Mark Boguslawski and Wendy Prather presented the proposed draft changes, public outreach, and discussion to date. They noted that the Washington County area's MS4 permit update, which was anticipated to be complete by the end of this year, has not yet been approved and it is uncertain when approval and implementation will occur.

Leigh Crabtree discussed the South Cooper Mountain Community Plan and the risk of appeals without additional storm water regulations for the South Cooper Mountain area.

During the roundtable discussion the pros and cons of which path to take were discussed, including:

- Use the current surface water runoff management (stormwater runoff) design criteria as published by Clean Water Services and the City of Beaverton
- Use the "Standard Local Operating Procedures for Endangered Species to Administer Stream Restoration and Fish Passage Improvement Activities Authorized or Carried Out by the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers in the Oregon (SLOPES V Restoration)"
- Use the City Staff prepared draft proposed changes dated October 30, 2014. These propose a simplified incremental change in the surface water management standards that will apply to the South Cooper Mountain development area until a county-wide approach is developed and implemented.
- Use a modified version of the October 30, 2014, draft addressing partner concerns and city concerns when consensus is reached.

The discussion was friendly and productive, however no consensus was reached during this meeting. All parties agreed to keep working on the applicable details in an effort to reach consensus.

Meeting attendees were informed that they need to provide written feedback or offer a counter-proposal that could be included in the meeting materials for the December 3, 2014 Planning Commission Meeting by Monday November 24, 2014.

Please note that Planning Commission may provide different direction than any proposed.
